“ I am a friend and classmate of Ireland and remember many fun memories of growing up with him. Indeed he was a friend to everybody and absolutely considered the best dancer in our school. Although Ireland wasn't considered a great athlete, I have one memory where he was the sports hero! There was a church basketball league made up of teams from the Louisiana churches when we were in the 7th or 8th grade. The Methodists and Presbyterians played a game for the league championship, with Ireland playing for the Methodists and I was playing for the Presbyterians. The score was tied in the final minute and Ireland was fouled. He sank both free throws and the Methodists were champions! Rest in peace, my friend.

Ireland and I attended all 12 years of school together. While the class always had "cliques", Ireland was everyone's friend, no matter where you lived or what color you were; and he always told it like it like he saw it! I know he's dancing in heaven today with Mrs. Zook, preparing for a party when we all meet him again.

Thanks for the memories, Ireland!
