“ You were the best father I could ask for, you were there for me when no one else was. You always made everyone smile, especially with your horrible Spanish at dos primos. Everyone could tell how much you loved and cared for your family. You will forever be in our hearts and I'm forever grateful for you ”

“ I first meet Jason when he was working at Hardees in Louisiana, I pulled up to the drive through to pay and pick up my order. This young man opens the window to collect my money and he says, " Hello! That will be $$$$ please." He brings back my change along with my food and flashes me this 100 watt smile and says, "I hope you have a good day!" Many people may say this to you, but when Jason said it; he meant it. I saw him about a handful of times after that, all at Hardees, and each time he was just as nice and sincere as the previous times. And boy could he smile! I remember thinking that I bet he would be a great team member at TrILERMAN. There was just something about him that touched my heart. After a couple more visits I finally mustered up the courage to tell him, "You should come apply for a job at TrILERMAN. We need people like you." He did apply and was hired. Jason was one of those people that when you went to work, you were glad to see. He always had a smile on his face and something nice to say. Another memory I have of Jason is at Christmastime. I would put a countdown to Christmas calendar on my office door every year. Jason saw the calendar one day and then it became a thing between us. Every time he would come into the office he would tell me how many days till Christmas and we would laugh. We talked about how Christmas was "the most wonderful time of the year". He always made me smile. I hope Christmas is everyday for you Jason.

“ No matter what was going on we always had each other. We had so many good memories. You will always have place in my heart and have nothing but love for you. I miss you so much. I hope you are at peace now. I want to be selfish. I want one more hug. One more I love you. One more tug on your hoodie strings. Fly high. We will see each other again one day.

“ He loved to laugh and smile, always had a smile for me at the office no matter what or how much work he had. I will miss you Jason, and your persistence! Rest easy now, no stress, no drama, no worries about all those who just wanted something from you, no more stacking trailers in the rain either. Honestly, it won't be the same without ya kid.
