“ Still here thinking I'm gonna get a text or a call. I hate this feeling of loneliness. I'm sorry if you ever felt like I wasn't there enough. Life took hold in the sense that we always promised we'd make time. I hate that I wasted those missed moments we talked about.. I talked to you the day after my birthday, in tears because I couldn't get through the 8 times or so I tried the night before. You had your worries but I also had those worries for you. 21 years of Growing up together/Raising each other's spirits. I Miss and Love you Brother. You are truly missed. Physically mentally and Spiritually. I'm here when you need to haunt someone BestFriend.

“ I will never forget that sweet, shy young man who came to my house. Always smiling and very respectful. Always thought of him as another one of my kids. RIP KOREY!

“ So many childhood memories with you and Brandon. Never a dull moment. You had a laugh and smile that you could see and hear a mile away. I will always cherish the moments we had growing up. Playing basketball with Kyle, touring the cemetery, video games, and walking EVERYWHERE. Growing up and becoming adults was not what we expected, and we lost touch here and there. However, when I did see you, it was that smile. The one that I will never forget. I will keep that with me in my heart. I have prayed and thought about you and your family and all of our friends as we mourn. I will continue to do so. May you rest in peace.
