“ Remembering Theresa when she was a baby girl, I lived in the neighborhood. I was 13 years old when she was born. Our family and her Dad's family were long time friends. Her Aunt Theresa and I were childhood friends, and we really liked stopping by her brothers house to see Theresa's adorable baby Niece. Her Mom, Norma Jean

“ As a child growing up in LA, I knew Theresa from dad's many times at the coffee shop, aka The Farm Shed. In later years, I lost track of her, but the times we had contact, she always made me feel good. That's what I remember best about her. Her love and kindness towards everyone around her. The world has lost a light, but the heavens have gained an angel. :(<3

She was a sweet person, and had so much love to give. No one walked in her moccasins and if they had, maybe they could better understand her. She would ask me to come by her house, and was always so proud of her latest decorating scheme. I will never forget her, and I will sure miss her sweet spirit,
